Dear King Akbar,

Warm greetings!

After I read the story:

BIRBAL'S TRIP TO PARADISE

I hope you're doing well! I understood that being a king, you are not aware of your enemies and not taking responsible decisions. A king's most valuable quality is intelligence but, in your actions, I don't see that you are being intelligent. You simply trusted a barber who was jealous of Birbal. Someone who is burnt up, that person will die and go to heaven and they cannot come back to earth. So, I think you must be more intelligent as you are the king and greatest of all the Mughals.

Yours,
sincerely Londah Kulkarni SE
