A message from HOS & Team

Friends are the family one chooses, and true friends stay with us through thick and thin.

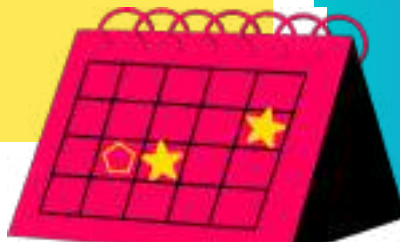

All types of friendships have something or the other that's unique and special, a best friend, an acquaintance, or a group of friends. Whoever that may be, a friend should always be the one who fuels our passion to flying rather than clipping our wings.

A man is recognized by the company he keeps, so choose good friends.

"I would rather walk with a friend in the dark, than alone in the light." - Helen Keller
